Summit Talks on Malaysia Forecast By Robert Kennedy

Johnson's Special Envoy Sees Settlement of Crisis

BY JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy predicted today that the disputants in the Malaysian crisis will gather around the conference table to settle their differences.

Kennedy, President Johnson's peacemaker in the dispute, wound up an initial round of talks with Indonesia's President Sukarno, Malaysia's principal opponent.

At a news conference, Kennedy said he will confer again with Sukarno in Jakarta next Wednesday after an exchange of views with President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines in Manila and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia in Kuala Lumpur.

Claims on Malaysia
Kennedy, appearing with Indonesia's Foreign Minister Subandrio, said an Asian summit meeting of Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines is very possible.

The Philippines, which claims the Malaysian state of Sabah—formerly British North Borneo—also opposes the new federation, but less vehemently than Indonesia. Sukarno regards Malaysia as a form of British neocolonialism.

Kennedy, 38, brother of the assassinated President John F. Kennedy, said he was encouraged by his conversations with Sukarno during the past two days. Kennedy, accompanied by his wife, Ethel, is on his first major diplomatic assignment for Johnson.

The Kennedys leave this afternoon for South Korea to visit some of the 50,000 U.S. troops stationed there. The attorney general also will call on President Chung Hee Park before leaving for Manila Sunday.

On Tuesday he will fly to the Malaysian capital of Kuala Lumpur.

It is assumed Kennedy will go on to London after his second meeting with Sukarno for talks on the crisis with Britain's Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Favorite Son Role if Johnson Avoids Primary

Reynolds to Wait Until President Reveals Decision

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds indicated Friday he will run as a favorite son candidate for president if President Johnson decides not to enter the state's Democratic preferential primary.

"As a practical matter," Reynolds said at a news conference, "I think that it is fair to say that if the President does not run (in Wisconsin) I'll run as a favorite son."

Reynolds said that until President Johnson decides whether he will enter the Wisconsin primary, final plans for a favorite son campaign cannot be made.

Backs Lucey for Party Post
The governor said that Patrick J. Lucey's "long years of party service" entitle him to the office of Democratic national committeeman from Wisconsin.

"The committeeman's job was vacated last week when David Rabinovitch resigned to become judge of the U.S. western district of Wisconsin. The party's administrative committee is expected to name Lucey as Rabinovitch's successor at a meeting Sunday in Madison."

Lucey, a Madison realtor, stepped down last year as state party chairman. He has been doing organizational work for the National Democratic Committee in Ohio recently.

Reynolds' endorsement of Lucey and similar sentiments expressed by party leaders makes his elevation a foregone conclusion. The administrative committee, however, must make two other selections that are not as clear cut.

Disagree Over Treasurer
Some intra-party scrapping is in process over the naming of a replacement for John Werner of Milwaukee, who resigned as Democratic state treasurer before the election.

Red China Tries to Boost Army Morale

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced today it will launch a campaign to boost the morale of the Red Chinese army so that it will not fall into the "bourgeois way of life."

The broadcast did not indicate if the campaign resulted from new unrest among Red China's 2.5 million troops. The troops nearly revolted in 1960 against the policies of the Red regime.

Panama Makes Break Complete; Khrushchev Lashes at Washington

BY JOE MCGOWAN JR.

PANAMA (AP) — U.S. Embassy personnel were housed safely in the Canal Zone today after Panama took the final step in severing diplomatic relations with the United States.

Meanwhile, Soviet Premier Khrushchev threw Soviet support behind the Panamanians and denounced U.S. action in the Canal Zone.

Most U.S. Embassy staff members and their dependents were evacuated to the Canal Zone Friday night shortly before an anti-American student demonstration and several hours after Panama said it was recalling the remainder of its diplomatic staff from Washington.

Panama asked the United States to recall its embassy staff from Panama City, but a U.S. State Department official said the request did not apply to consular officials, Peace Corps volunteers or members of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Break Not Seen as Final
Because of the exceptions, the United States does not regard the break as final. U.S. officials also indicated that President Johnson's troubleshooter, Edwin M. Martin, planned to remain in Panama. Peace efforts are expected to continue to loosen a deadlock between the two countries over a 1903 treaty which gave the United States perpetual control over the canal.

President Robert Chiari ordered a break in diplomatic relations with the United States Jan. 10—a day after violence erupted on the Canal Zone—but retained some of his diplomatic staff in Washington.

Costa Rica Handles Affairs
The Panamanian government asked Costa Rica to handle Panamanian interests in the United States. Costa Rica also will handle diplomatic matters for the United States in Panama.

Khrushchev, touring a textile factory in Kalinin, 100 miles northwest of Moscow, with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, ridiculed charges that last week's riots in the Canal Zone were staged by pro-Castro Communists.

"It was not comrade Castro who organized the events in Panama," Khrushchev said. "These events are a result of the predatory policy of United States imperialists in Panama."

In the Canal Zone, memorial services were conducted for four American soldiers killed in last week's riots which also claimed the lives of 19 Panamanians.

Accused of $46.5 Million Tank Storage Firm Fraud

Central Figure in Scandal And Former Employee Jailed

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Anthony DeAngelis, central figure in a $100-million vegetable-oil scandal, was in jail today charged with defrauding a tank-storage concern of nearly $46.5 million.

Also in jail, similarly charged, was Joseph Lomuscio, a former employee of the storage firm.

Superior Court Judge Robert Matthews originally set bail for each at $46,499,295.63, the amount allegedly owed the plaintiff. Later, after hearing pleas from the defendants' lawyers, he agreed to reduce the bail to $150,000 for DeAngelis and $100,000 for Lomuscio.

Matthews said he had granted the reduction on the condition that the two men appear Monday in his court and submit to an examination of their assets. Neither could post bond, and both were taken to jail.

DeAngelis, president of the Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, which went bankrupt two months ago, and Lomuscio were arrested Friday on a complaint filed by Joseph M. Nolan, trustee in bankruptcy for Harbor Tank Storage Co. of West New York.

Harbor Tank was one of a half dozen companies that went bankrupt in the wake of Allied's financial collapse. More than 50 companies have been affected.

Former Custodian
The complaint alleges that DeAngelis and Lomuscio committed breach of contract and fraud.

Lomuscio formerly was employed as a custodian by Harbor Tank.

The complaint said the alleged fraud had put Harbor Tank nearly $46.5 million in debt to holders of "false" warehouse receipts issued in Harbor Tank's name. Nolan said the receipts appear to have been used by Allied, or by companies which got them from Allied, as the basis for loans from banks and financial houses.

Nolan said that a survey of the 10 tanks which Harbor had used on the Allied premises showed that instead of containing soybean and cottonseed oils and lard as certified by the warehouse receipts, they contained fish oil, acidified soap stock, animal fat greases and fatty acids.

Name Changed By Zanzibar

'Peoples Republic' Does Not Define Its Future Policy

ZANZIBAR (AP)—The revolutionary regime today officially renamed this East African island nation "The Peoples Republic of Zanzibar."

(Censored dispatches from Zanzibar did not make clear whether adoption of the Communist-style name meant the revolutionary leaders intended to set up a Communist regime.)

The proclamation came as the Soviet Union joined other Communist and African nations in recognizing the rebel government that deposed the sultan of Zanzibar and his Arab-dominated regime last Sunday.

Khrushchev's Message
In a message to Zanzibar's President Abeid Karume, Soviet Premier Khrushchev expressed his congratulations.

Helicopter Shot Down by Reds

2 Americans and British Colonel Reported Missing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Communists shot down a U.S. Army escort helicopter in the Mekong Delta battle today and two American servicemen and a British colonel aboard it were reported missing and feared dead.

The helicopter, a rocket-firing UH1A, was downed near the mouth of the Mekong River. It was believed to have been hit in the tail rotor. Two crewmen were fished out of the water near the crash site. They apparently were not hurt.

Earlier Losses
Five U.S. helicopter crewmen were killed and three wounded Friday in operations supporting a Vietnamese government campaign to crush Red bases in the delta.

Britain maintains a small military advisory mission in South Viet Nam. The missing colonel was believed to have been an observer from that mission.

Calls for blood donors were broadcast by the U.S. Armed Forces Radio station as casualties were flown northward to Saigon from the delta.

Toll Grows to 173
The U.S. fatalities Friday raised to 173 the number of Americans dead from all causes since the start of the war.

Inspiration From Russians

Michigan Team Transfuses Blood From Corpses Directly to Living

BY AL SANDNER

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Russian accomplishments with blood transfusions spurred a Michigan research team to discover how corpses could provide the blood to keep injured persons alive in the battlefield or in disaster areas.

Dr. Jack Kevorkian and researchers Neal Nicol and Edwin Rea of Pontiac General Hospital announced Friday night that they had performed the first known direct transfusions of blood from human corpses to living persons.

Great Possibilities
The process, Kevorkian said, is a simple one "with what appear to us to be tremendous military possibilities."

Kevorkian had read Russian medical journals that described the taking of blood from persons who had just died, storing it and then transfusing it into living patients.

"I asked our department head, Dr. John J. Marra, if we could try to repeat the Russian experiments," Kevorkian said. "He didn't think the idea would work, but he gave us a go-ahead."

Kevorkian and his assistants gave blood from corpses to living volunteers after storing it 12 to 15 days without adding the chemicals that are put in stored blood to prevent coagulation, he said.

"Then came the next logical step — the direct transfer of blood from a dead person to a living patient," Kevorkian said. "This was something the Russians hadn't done."

"Everybody in the lab became a volunteer, and we agreed that whoever's blood type came up next would take a transfusion."

This turned out to be Nicol. Although a dead person's blood may be tapped up to six hours after death, the team worked quickly and transferred 400 cubic centimeters—about a pint—within half an hour.

"Nicol never flinched and this calmed any uneasiness that anyone else might have felt about the experiment," Kevorkian said. "And after we finished the second experiment, just about anybody in the hospital would have been willing to try it."

Another important discovery came because the second and third corpses were of persons killed in automobile accidents. Both had suffered broken necks, which prevented draining the blood from the jugular vein in the neck, as in the first transfusion.

Blood From Heart
"We had to drain the blood from the heart — which yielded about 200 cubic centimeters," he said. "This has its advantages, since it doesn't necessitate tilting the body to get the blood in to the neck and depend on the gravitational flow."

In each case, researchers had to check with friends and family of the deceased to determine whether there had been any history of jaundice or liver disease.

Use State Map to Make Big Jigsaw Puzzle for Pastime

BY CAPPY DICK

If you can find around the house a map of the state, showing the boundaries of all the counties, use it to make a jigsaw puzzle. Such a map is often used as a road map for motor- ists. Be sure no one wants the map before you cut it up to make a puzzle.

Paste the map on thin card- board. When the paste has dried, cut the counties apart.

Mix all the pieces together in a pile at the center of the table and then start putting them back together to form the com- plete state.

If you have maps of two of both states together at the states, make a jumbo jigsaw from them. Paste each state on cardboard and cut the coun- ties apart. Mix all the counties together.

Play against a friend. He selects the county he will re- build. You rebuild the other county. Each of you draw pieces from the center mixup. The first to complete his county wins the game.

Finance Group Nears Vote on Tax Cut Bill

Senate Debate on Measure May Start Week of Jan. 26

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: TAXES: The Senate Finance Committee hopes to wind up voting on the tax cut bill by Wednesday — setting the stage for the possible start of floor debate the week of Jan. 26. Senate leaders hope to get the bill through by the time Congress starts its Lincoln's birthday recess Feb. 11. Conference to work out differences between the Senate bill and the version that has passed the House would come later.

ESTES TAXES: The Internal Revenue Service says Billie Sol Estes, the bankrupt Texas fertilizer king, owes Uncle Sam $18.2 million in back taxes and penalties.

Estes, facing 23 years in prison after conviction on charges of mail fraud, swindling and conspiracy, is fighting the claim in the U.S. Tax Court.

EARNINGS: American factory workers earned an average of $102 a week in December — a new high.

The Labor Department reported Friday that average weekly earnings were up 91 cents from the $101.09 November figure.

DOCTOR DRAFT: Because of insufficient volunteers, the Defense Department has issued a draft call for 1,050 doctors for this summer.

"This call is necessary because insufficient numbers of 1963 medical school graduates volunteered for active duty immediately following internship," the department said Friday.

PARCEL RATES: Increased parcel post rates — averaging 13.1 per cent above present ones — are scheduled to go into effect April 1.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski made the announcement Friday, a day after the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the increase long sought by postal authorities. Based on 1962 volume, the new rates are figured to bring in an extra $74 million.

Man's Death Ruled Suicide

Paul Saegert, 75, Menasha, Found By Granddaughter

Winnebago County Coroner Arthur Miller has ruled the death of Paul Saegert, 75, 91 Madison St., Menasha, a suicide. Saegert's body was found in the basement of his home shortly after 7 a.m. today by his granddaughter. A single blast from a 12-gauge shotgun had entered his chest.

Minding Your Business

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

SALES TOP 41 MILLION ANNUALLY BUT MR. NIDES CAN'T SELL STORE

DEAR CY:

If I wasn't too old (43) to get started in my own business, I wouldn't be afraid. A woman here is proof that there's less risk in owning a business than everyone thinks. She bought a nice dress shop and after two years decided it was not what she wanted. She promptly sold the business for more than she paid originally. There are too many lacking the nerve to be venturesome in business. You can always get out.

ANDY B.

DEAR ANDY:

Mrs. Nesses Nides of Denver might even twist your warped opinion on how easy it is to sell a going business. Nides Appliances, Inc. had been in business 15 years when she decided to get out in the fall of 1962. All but two of the years (the last two) had been quite profitable, and sales volume was over $1 million per year. After four interested prospects checked her business with the intention of buying it, no deal materialized. In Mrs. Nides' words, as quoted in the Congressional Record, "Now, I had no choice. I proceeded to liquidate the assets of my company and I closed the firm on July 15, 1963. This was just one more store closing as far as statistics are concerned. But, to me, I think you will agree, I have lost a vital part of myself." In our land of plenty and booming business, 1,000 stores close daily. Be assured, owners would rather sell out than turn the key in the lock. Sure, you can always get out of business. But, with what?

DEAR CY:

Can a company get a blank credit rating with Dun & Bradstreet and still be on the up and up? I have been thinking of selling a line of battery additives. I asked a friend to look up the manufacturer in his big Dun & Bradstreet book. He says there is a dash after the name. . . no rating at all. What goes?

MARVIN M.

DEAR MARVIN:

No classification in D. & B.'s book is neither terrific or terrible. The national credit rating service simply does not have enough information to rate the company. Should a subscriber request it, he can secure a detailed report which will explain reasons behind the blank rating. Generally service companies are not rated. Numerous firms, with excellent credit performance, withhold information because they like being secretive. Some outfits are afraid of getting bad grades. Auto battery additives have earned much bad publicity during the past 30 years. Major complaints center around: "They don't do anything for the battery."

it and won't hear foolish complaints from our girls.

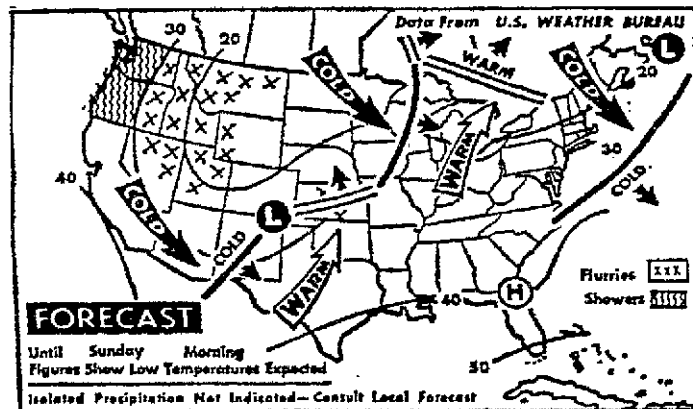

KNOWS

DEAR KNOWS: Most gals doing office work are well groomed and willing to work. Impose on them chairs that snag stockings, desks that crack backs, and machines operated only by splitting seams. . . and you have due reward. According to analytical and dynamic Samuel H. Henning, vice president of Cole Steel equipment, "I find intelligent employees today listen to employees' complaints, realizing they may lead to savings amounting to thousands and thousands of dollars annually. Simply adjusting chairs or desks three quarters of an inch, or less, can mean tremendously increased performance."

Snow and Snow Flurries will fall over the northern and central Plateau tonight while showers will occur over the northwest Pacific coast. Snow also expected in parts of the southern Plains. Colder weather will prevail over the region westward from the Rockies and over Florida while warmer weather covers the Southeast, except Florida. It will be mostly fair to partly cloudy, with little temperature change, elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Study Finds 282 Appleton Pupils Have Hearing Problems

A total of 282 children were found to have hearing problems through the hearing conservation program of the Appleton public schools this year.

They made up 3.8 per cent of the 7,987 pupils tested by volunteer workers and school nurses.

Some 124 volunteers were trained, and gave screening tests to 7,633 pupils in first, third, fifth, seventh, ninth and 11th grades. The nurses tested 305 absentees, and retested 558 pupils from the total group. Forty-nine in even numbered grades were given audiometric tests.

6 Under Care Of the children found to have hearing problems, 67 were recommended for the otological clinic by a hearing consultant from the Bureau for Handicapped Children, and the nurses made home visits to the families. Six are under medical care. Some 57 children were examined at the clinic, and their parents had conferences with the otologist and hearing consultant. Arrangements were made in two special cases for parent-child conferences with the hearing consultant, attended also by the speech therapist and nurse.

Principals and teachers were informed of the clinic recommendations, and the family doctor received a copy of the clinic report. The school nurses will follow up these cases.

Undeveloped Area

Brillion Cemetery Land To be Used for Golfing

BRILLION — The city council Monday granted the Deer Run Golf Course developers permission to use an undeveloped portion of the community cemetery for golf links.

The decision hinges on an agreement to be reached between the city and course proprietors. It was stipulated that present areas reserved for monuments and grass markers should remain unchanged.

No more land will be purchased for the cemetery at the present time, the council decided.

Land north of E. Water Street was rezoned from single family residential to light industrial.

The ordinance committee was instructed to amend the zoning ordinance to comply with the council action.

Proposed Plat

Proposed plats for a subdivision southeast of the Stickert addition were presented by Melvin Koch and Winfred Riemer, developers of the area. The plats also included building regulations for residential construction.

The plat proposals were assigned to the city affairs committee which will consult the McMahon Engineer Co., Menasha, for cost estimates on water and sewer main extensions into the area.

Arrangements to borrow $115,000 from Channer-Newman Securities Co., Chicago, have been completed. Clerk Lynn Williams reported. The money will be used to finance a new interceptor sewer system.

City Atty. William Hertel will complete the transaction.

Twelve rinks have been entered, according to John Monty, bonspiel chairman. Other rinks from Waupaca are the Clark

Whittier and Chuck Stanchfield rinks; Roy Jenkins rink, Portage; Phil Maussmann rink, Madison; Emmett Brachmann rink, Wausau; James Miller rink, Medford; Harold Bammel rink, Waupaca, and four Clintonville rinks skipped by Ed Wanta, Jack McConley, Coy Deming and Ed Reinke.

Additional rinks are expected from Stevens Point, Green Bay and Port Edwards.

Kaukauna Fire Losses Down

Fire Chief's Figures
Based on Claims to Insurance Companies

KAUKAUNA—Fire loss in Kaukauna during 1963 amounted to $4,103.64, according to figures compiled by William Haupt, fire chief, from claims filed with insurance companies.

This is well below the $13,536.31 loss reported in 1962. Fire loss for calls answered amounted to $1,563.21 in 1963 and $10,357.18 in 1962. Fire loss for calls not made amounted to $2,540.43 in 1963 and $3,179.13 in 1962.

The department made 113 fire runs during the year compared to 96 in 1962, and answered three false alarms compared to nine the previous year. The smoke ejector was used four times, trucks traveled 335 miles, one person locked out of his home was assisted, two calls were made to flush gas from the streets, one call was made for an exposed light cord in a receptacle, one call was made to flush out the swimming pool, seven runs were made to settle dust on the ball diamond and two runs were made to fill boilers at the county garage.

Firemen answered 207 ambulance runs including 278 to Kaukauna Community Hospital, 12 for oxygen, 11 to St. Elizabeth, Appleton, six to Riverview Sanatorium and five to Appleton Memorial. On eight runs the patient was found dead on arrival.

Other runs were made to hospitals in Green Bay, doctor's offices and rest homes.

Lowell Ferris Granted Patent
On Pilot Model of Du-Cut Unit

An employe of an Appleton machinery firm and his son have devised a machine to speed up and improve the multiple automatic cutting operations of band knives and saws.

It utilizes the return as well as the forward run of the end-

The son, Lowell D. Ferris, has been granted Patent No. 3,118,337 on the machine. His father, James A. Ferris Sr., De Pere, a machine designer for 40 years, and an employe of Valley Iron Works, Inc., collaborated with him in designing and producing the pilot model.

Although their initial contacts have been primarily with the paper industry, the inventors anticipate the machine will see numerous other applications in cutting such materials as textiles, wood, plastics and metals.

Trial Runs
Trial runs with the pilot machine in cutting rolls from toilet tissue "logs" have been highly successful, the elder Ferris said.

Calling their machine the Du-Cut, the inventors point out that by using both runs of band knives or saws it can double production. They also say they have achieved precise and rigid control of the blade to prevent any skewing or twisting which would result in "bias-cutting," an important cause of spoiled work.

In operation, the material being cut is advanced two lengths of the finished product, instead of one length. The material is sliced or sawed by the downward thrust of the blade, and the conveyor then moves ahead another two lengths.

"For the processing of toilet tissue," James Ferris said, "the pilot Du-Cut machine has been engineered and built to achieve a production rate of 180 cases per hour. This equals or better the speed of any presently available tissue winder."

Convenient Adjustments
Adjustments to provide for every conceivable variable, such as wear of knife or diameter and density of work, are convenient for the operator and may be manipulated while the machine is operating at top speed, according to Ferris.

Lowell Ferris, according to his father, visualized the double-action cutting operation which had eluded or been ignored by machine designers up to then.

He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, having received his master's degree in physics in 1960. Now with the Army at Fort Ord, Calif., as a first lieutenant, he expects to return home in June after completion of his service.

Lowell has worked with his father for several years at the Ferris Engineering Co. in the design of printing, wrapping and special paper trade and other machinery. While earning his master's degree he helped design some of the equipment used in connection with the recently installed cyclotron at the University of Wisconsin.

No Manufacture Plans
No definite plans have been made for commercial manufacture of the Du-Cut.

"It is relatively simple to build in a machine shop, and we could set of Pat Maples, the production refinements of Norbert Ecker especially in the costume, and the smooth technical work of Alan Wanek played as great a part in the success as anything.

Elderon Man Fined $250

Traffic Violator
Jailed by Justice
Until Levy Paid

WAUPACA — Phillip P. Wroblewski, 45, Elderon, was committed Friday to the county jail for 60 days or until he pays fines totaling $250 after he pleaded guilty before Municipal Justice George Whalen of two traffic offenses.

Wroblewski was fined $100 for driving on the left side of the highway in face of oncoming traffic and $150 for leaving the scene of an accident. He was committed to jail when he failed to pay the fines.

He was arrested late Thursday night when John Bonnell, county policeman, and Iola Chief of Police Lloyd Cooper found his car parked at a tavern in Rosholt.

Wroblewski at first denied he was involved in the traffic accident about 4:10 p.m. Thursday on State 49, three miles north of Iola. He later admitted he drove the car which passed a car driven by Mrs. Charles Dietzler, route 1, Iola, and sideswiped a car driven by Sam T. Larson, Amherst Junction, which was coming from the opposite direction.

Bonnell told Municipal Justice Whalen he took Wroblewski to the home of Alvin Reiersen, route 1, Iola, who was driving a car in front of the Dietzler vehicle. Reiersen had noted Wroblewski's car license number and identified the driver.

Bonnell said the Larson car, after it was struck by Wroblewski, travelled 450 feet along a ditch, narrowly missing a cattle underpass.

Bonnell testified Wroblewski told him he did not stop after the accident because he had no automobile insurance.

Jaycees Honor Kaukauna's Top Young Farmer

Gerald Van Asten
Will Compete
For State Award

KAUKAUNA — Gerald Van Asten, 34, route 3, Kaukauna, was named Outstanding Young Farmer of the area at a dinner Thursday night at the Legion clubrooms.

Sponsored jointly by the Jaycees and Wisconsin Gas Company, Van Asten will be in competition with about 25 other winners from throughout the state at Appleton Feb. 14 and 15. State winner will compete for national honors.

Van Asten is married and the father of four children. After spending four years in the navy, he turned to dairy farming on a 130-acre farm near Hollandtown.

Family Loans

He received a small loan from his family to start his farm operation. He has built his farm into a paying operation despite a setback in 1961 when his barn, two silos, new milk house, five head of cattle, hay, feed and equipment, were destroyed by fire.

Van Asten started with 12 dairy cows and has increased his herd to 38. He increased butterfat production from 380 to 454.5.

In 1955 his farm pasture was run down and he had to use dry feed. In 1961 he was feeding 57 head on 21 acres of pasture and purchased a green chopper. Last year he had six acres in corn, 39 acres of hay, 20 acres in pasture and 36 acres of oats. Average yield per acre was 55 bushels of corn, two to three tons of hay and 65 bushels of oats.

Added 10 Acres

He added 10 acres to his farm in 1962 and turned additional acreage through tiling and ditching. He has built a new silo, barn, bulk cooler and improved his home. His labor saving equipment includes a barn cleaner, silo unloader and bunk feeder.

He is a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, Town of Buchanan ASC chairman, Hollandtown volunteer fire department, Badger Breeders, Wisconsin DHA, Consolidated Badger and attended Appleton Vocational Agriculture School.

Fremont's Wolf River Drive Stemmed From C of C Signs

FREMONT — A pair of Fremont Chamber of Commerce display signs showing a fisherman in a picturesque setting gave rise to Fremont's new street name, Wolf River Drive.

At its last meeting the village board eliminated a hodge-podge of street names in the community's business area and created the new route name. It began at the west end of the village as County Trunk U, continued as Main Street for about six blocks, then took in three blocks of State Road and four blocks of Water Street.

The drive is a scenic and busy route winding along the Wolf River and Lake Partridge and the Fremont business district. Some 30 business establishments, representing over 20 types of services, dot the route.

Along it are located the community bathing beach, the park, the state graded school, village hall and post office. The drive's east terminal follows the canals of the Wolf River Crossing Park at the point they join the main stream.

The attractive signs prompted the board action when members realized none of the existing names suited the route.

Legion Banquet Plans Completed At Wittenberg

WITTENBERG — Final plans were made for the March 10 annual banquet for Legionnaires and Auxiliary members at the grade school dining room. Ladies of Redeemer Lutheran Church will prepare and serve the meal.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ingvald Larson, Mrs. Everette Lendved and Mrs. Florence Peterson.

Wood, chairman of the commission for about six years, died last year.

Other members of the committee are Outagamie County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer and Arch Dixon, Neenah citizen member.

The executive committee also approved Risley's appointment of a nominating committee, headed by Combined Locks Village President Donald Hoh.

Other members are George A. Schwalbach, Town of Harrison chairman, and Menasha Mayor John Klien.

Other action included approval of an education committee proposal to purchase a slide projector at not more than $40, and a screen at not more than $35.

Work Program for Violators is Urged

Final Report on Butte des Morts Bridge Due

Unit Would be Part of Fox Cities
Expressway Plan

BY TOM RICHARDS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The final report in a preliminary investigation of a proposed bridge over Little Lake Butte des Morts will be completed in two weeks to a month, State Highway Commissioner P. L. Janssen said Thursday.

Janssen told the executive committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission work by state engineers is "moving very well."

The bridge would be a major link in an expressway system proposed by the commission. Plans call for the superhighway to stretch from U.S. 41 at Neenah, through the Fox Cities, and back to 41 beyond Kaukauna.

Janssen said he and Leroy Empey, Green Bay, fellow state highway engineer, anticipate a meeting soon with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Chicago.

Because the Fox River is a federal waterway, the proposed bridge would have to meet Army specifications, Janssen said. No date has been set for the Chicago meeting.

Major Problem
The major problem in engineering of the bridge, Janssen said, is the approaches and types of interchanges to allow a smooth blending of traffic.

Several proposals are under consideration, he said. Another problem is determining the location and depth of the lake's rock ledge.

Janssen said war department maps available to the highway department do not show these structures, and the state will have to take soundings. Location of solid rock could have considerable effect on the cost of the bridge, he said.

Shallow bed rock ledge would mean lower construction costs because footings would be more easily anchored, the engineer said.

The preliminary report will include estimates of costs, which are contingent on Army Corps requirements and rock ledge location, he said.

Judge Tells Medical Society County Should Provide Two Other Rehabilitation Programs

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Vagrants, drunks and petty law violators, all who share a common quality of dislike for work, should be sentenced to a compulsory work program—somewhat along the lines of the old workhouse, but modernized, Outagamie County Judge Gustave Keller said Thursday.

At the same time, Judge Keller told members of the County Medical Society, the state should provide facilities for the rehabilitation of alcoholics and sex offenders. Judge Keller was speaker at the society's monthly meeting at Alex's Manor House.

"It is my opinion," Judge Keller said, "that the work program, and its facility, should be on an area basis rather than a county basis. In most instances the cost of an effective system on a county basis would be too costly; on an area basis, the counties could share the cost."

Sex Offenders
Sex offenders "are in considerable number," Judge Keller said. "The horrifying fact about these offenders is their ability to spread the evil to others—particularly young people."

Wisconsin does have a sex deviate center at the Wisconsin State Hospital in Waupun, and the courts are required to commit certain offenders to that institution.

For sex crimes not listed as mandatory commitments, however, the courts are allowed discretion and may commit the offender "if the state department of public welfare has the facilities and will accept the individual." Judge Keller said the hospital is overcrowded and another class of sex offenders cannot be accepted.

Fear of being jailed for a certain amount of time or fear of a heavy fine is not a deterrent "and is not going to solve this very serious problem," Judge Keller said some courts hesitate to jail sex offenders for fear of throwing them into contact with others who are confined.

Proper Facilities

Judge Keller called for prompt action toward the building of proper facilities for treatment of these offenders as well as for treatment of alcoholics "who have crowded the available mental institutions to capacity."

Judge Keller suggested that the state facility be designed and equipped for alcoholics with trained personnel for rehabilitation.

Ann Says Profanity Is Crutch For Conversational Cripples

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son graduated from high school last spring at 16. He was an ETONSHRDL honor student, some what shy, and slow to make friends. We were hopeful that college would bring him out a little. A few days ago Rich and I came home for the first time since he left for Oberlin in September. My husband and I were dumbfounded. Now every other sentence has a hell or a damn in it. Richard never used language like that and we were pretty upset.

My husband and I decided to ignore his cussing although it was not easy. No one talks that way around our home. The question is: If Richard is still cussing when he comes for Easter what should we do? — R.W.T.
Dear R.W.T.: Poor Richard is trying awfully hard to show you he has grown up. He thinks sprinkling his conversation generously with cuss words will do it.

If he's still belling and damning by Easter have a frank talk with him. Tell him profanity is a crutch for conversational cripples.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of four lively boys. The eldest is eight, the youngest is two. Anyone who has boys knows it is normal for at least one out of four to be bandaged at all times.

My husband's sister makes her home with us. Nellie is a little old-maidish and she has a tendency to stir up trouble now and then.

Whenever one of the boys bangs or bumps himself Nellie brings up the injury at the supper table then says to my husband, "Where was their mother when it happened?"

My husband then begins to question me, as if I had not done my duty. This is very irritating. I'd like your advice on what to say the next time it happens — which will probably be tomorrow. — Not Uniquitous

Dear Not: You need not defend yourself whenever one of the boys scabs his knee, so please don't try.

The next time Nellie asks your husband where you were when "it happened" tell her you were playing poker in the back of the poolhall—as usual. That should clear her sinuses.

DEAR ANN: If I'm square, stuffy or old-fashioned please tell me.

I came here from a small town eight months ago. I was lucky and got a job as a stenographer. Three of the girls I work with have an apartment. When I was invited there for dinner last week I was surprised to find they have dishes, silverware, table linens, hand towels, bath towels, bath mats, ash trays, and even a waste basket from some well-known hotels.

All these articles are clearly labeled so I asked the girls how they managed to get the items out. "One piece at a time" was the answer.

When I said I didn't think this was honest they really let me have it. I was told that hotel prices are pegged to absorb that sort of shrinkage because "everyone does it." What about this? — Dummy

Dear Dummy: This sort of "shrinkage" is called stealing. And everybody doesn't do it. These girls may think they are sophisticated or cute, but when guests see hotel property in their apartment it simply advertises the fact that they are thieves.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Ailing House

Paint Peels Below Sill Of Window

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We cannot keep paint on the plaster wall below one living room window (east). Soon after being applied, it starts to peel off. We don't have this trouble with any of the other wall areas below windows. We have wood siding, steam heat (oil fired), and a dry, finished basement. What can cause this and how can we correct it?

A: There may be an opening between the window frame and the house siding, through which rain enters. Examine the outside of the window frame. Such spaces should be caulked. Or, if you have wood frames, some sections may have separated and putting may be necessary.

Q: In the summer months our chimneys seem to sweat as there are wet spots which appear on the wallpaper. I have heard there are flue linings for chimneys. If there are, where can these be purchased?

A: Flue linings are available at chimney builders and painters. However, I suspect the area like the woodwork, will sweating is from condensation resulting from the plaster being too thin. You might, if you applied directly to the brick of the chimney: warm, humid opening, decorate it like a murr-with this cooler surface condenses, with the result you mention. To overcome this, an insulating air space must be provided: Build a false wall of plasterboard on one-inch furring strips over the chimney wall. This can be papered to match the other walls, or painted, as desired.

Q: Can a ceiling seven and a half feet high be painted the same color as the walls, or should it be a different shade? The hallway has an opening to rain enters. Examine the outside of the window frame. Such spaces should be caulked. Or, if you have wood frames, some sections may have separated and putting may be necessary.

A: Both are a matter of personal preference and depend on the effect you want to achieve. Painting the ceiling the same color as the walls will make the ceiling appear lower; a lighter shade will appear to raise it. If you want the attic opening to be unnoticed, paint it the same as the ceiling, to blend in with it. Painting this area like the woodwork, will sweating is from condensation resulting from the plaster being too thin. You might, if you applied directly to the brick of the chimney: warm, humid opening, decorate it like a murr-

Soviet Economy Low

Washington Talking of Another Red-U. S. Gap

NEW YORK (AP)—Washington is talking up another gap between the United States and the Soviet Union. This one is economic.

And the Central Intelligence Agency says that the gap between the two economies is much wider and more to our advantage than many Americans had been led to believe.

The CIA view is that the Soviet economy is badly in need of assistance from the West and largely on a credit basis.

Many American businessmen have industrial goods they'd like to sell the Soviets, if Washington permitted; and many say they've fallen below $2 billion consumer items they'd like to sell since Moscow started selling, if Moscow would allow it in volume to raise foreign currency for purchase of wheat and other needed commodities.

Previously Americans have largely aimed at trying to discourage Europeans from sending credit to the hard-pressed Communists. But they also see it as perhaps a shadowing of future refusals of Washington to permit extended by contracts for sale of surplus trade here with the Soviets, who might be wanting chemical wise it doesn't amount to much, plants or fertilizer among other either in volume or in percentage of U.S. foreign trade.

Western Europe's trade with U.S.S.R. totalled $15.3 million the East is larger. And it is out of $20.5 billion for all growing, despite the frowns of ports; and imports $16.2 million Washington on some of the out of $16.1 billion The wheat items the West is furnishing. In return, Europe is taking Soviet year oil, to the distress of American oil companies and of State Department officials who see it as with sales of more American beefing up a faltering Communist economy. The Soviet Union tough Washington restrictions will soon have a pipeline delivery on just what can be sold, and ing its oil to the edge of the discouragement on granting credit.

Robbery Turns Out To be Stickery Job

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Robbing Mrs. Alice McQuown turned out to be a thorny task for a second-story man.

Police said the burglar climbed a drain pipe, forced a second floor bathroom window and took a watch and money from Mrs. McQuown's pocketbook.

But, as he fled the drainpipe broke, dropping him into a thorn bush.

South made the wrong discard on dummy's king of hearts. He should discard a club and try the diamond finesse.

Even though the diamond finesse loses, South can clear the ace and king of diamonds and return to dummy to discard a second club on the jack of diamonds. South wins five spades, two clubs—enough tricks for his slam contract.

Give South K-Q - 10 of diamonds instead of A-K-10 (in other words, substitute the queen for the ace of diamonds), and he cannot go wrong. He must automatically discard a club on dummy's king of hearts and develop the diamonds for a second club discard.

The ace of diamonds was an optical illusion that cost South his small slam in spades.

Pop said we gotta save money

But, Alvin, you'll only save a penny — and how Pop will miss that good meal!

"That's Alvin for you . . . a good boy but mixed up on some of his values. After all, it costs only about a penny to cook a good meal in an electric fry-pan.

There are many easier ways to save money than by unplugging the fry-pan, Alvin! Remember that 15c ice cream cone you had last night? Dad could have his dinner cooked to perfection in an electric fry-pan for TWO WEEKS for that cone cost.

Yes, Alvin, electricity is one of today's best bargains. No other service does so many things around your home — or does them so well for so little cost — as ELECTRICITY."

The Growth of the Road System

An attractive biennial report of the Wisconsin State Highway Commission reminds us of the dynamic character of our road network. During the last two years, for example, there has been an increase in the roads and streets of more than 1,100 miles. The total of the road mileage of Wisconsin now stands at 98,423, the highest in the history of the state.

Although nearly 90 per cent of this huge mileage is defined as rural, it is also a striking fact that more than half of the total, or well over 50,000 miles, now has all-weather and dust-free surfacing. This is an echo of what has become a commonplace in our public affairs discussions—that Wisconsin has the best system of rural roads in this country.

That we have put a high priority in money and planning on the rural road system is natural enough, given our history and more important, our unique agricultural economy based upon livestock and more particularly the dairy cows which deliver a crop that must have a reliable route to the market daily.

But we wonder if there is not an incongruity in the fact that we have this relatively luxurious, or at least superior, rural transport system at a time when our leaders are so loudly lamenting the lack of throughways in the districts and corridors of greatest traffic congestion.

The state administration at Madison has proposed an enormous issue of state bonds to finance a crash program of construction, as our political vocabulary now adapts describes it, to provide the freeways. There is much to be said for such an adjustment of sights, so to speak, in our total highway planning effort. But there are also reservations about the wisdom of such a huge debt in contravention of tradition, and in defiance of the fact that we will inevitably be borrowing huge amounts for more equally exigent needs of the colleges, the universities, the mental hospitals, the training schools for the retarded, the delinquent schools, the prisons and many other obligations of society.

Gov. Reynolds, the highway commission and some of the promotion interests that have involved themselves in the bonding campaign have pointed repeatedly to the conclusion of a legislative interim highways committee some years ago that the state is lagging, comparatively, in major route construction. We cannot quarrel with that finding. But there are many taxpayers wondering about the assumptions upon which that conclusion was based. Was it based, for example, on the assumption that we must continue indefinitely to build up our rural road system? Or can we adjust the total expenditure pattern in recognition of our rural road service achievements and the new need for more major routes? For the politician there will be some risk in raising such questions. But until they are raised, and answered, there will be cause for honest doubt in the mind of the voter contemplating a spring vote in the highway bonding referendum.

The Mau Mau Amnesty

When Kenya emphatically sought its independence from British colonial rule a decade ago, it employed the Mau Mau terrorists to try to drive the white men out. Members of the Kikuyu tribe, the Mau Maus took blood oaths for their campaign of violence and horror. Their atrocities of murder, rape, pillage and torture inspired horror in the civilized world although probably their deeds were not as bad as those in "civilized" Germany during Hitler's tenure.

Now Kenya has its independence and is led by the former Mau Mau leader himself, Jomo Kenyatta. But it is not so easy to get all the Mau Maus out of the jungle.

Just before independence was formally celebrated, Kenyatta granted an amnesty to all Mau Maus and encouraged them to come to the ceremonies when the Kenya flag was raised. Quite a few did, some still daubed with mud in the traditional garb. But a few then quietly returned to the jungle and their old ways. Independence once achieved was really rather dull.

One "General" Baimungi came to the independence day ceremonies and was photographed warmly embracing his old comrade, Kenyatta. Then Baimungi and some 200 of his followers descended on a village of the peaceful Meru tribe. They righteously saw to it that everyone swore an oath of allegiance to the new government and then paid a sum for the privilege. Then they beat the men, raped the women, and cut off a few ears here and there.

Kenyatta no longer sees anything noble about such actions. He declared the Mau Mau amnesty over as of January 15. From now on anyone carrying unauthorized arms or wearing unauthorized uniforms is subject to arrest.

The habits of terrorism are not easy to break. The Mau Maus still in the jungle may have found that it is as exciting to kill a black man as it is to kill a white one.

Monument to No Planning

Anyone who has driven into downtown Green Bay recently may have observed a monstrous architectural abortion in the construction of a new county jail building on the courthouse square.

The building has been crowded in between the old courthouse, the annex in the old post office building and the old jail. In architecture it looks just like what it is, a jail. The whole effect in the appearance of this block in the heart of the downtown area is horrendous.

How did this come about?

The old jail building had been condemned by the state. Meanwhile the city police department also needs a new building. The city approached the county about a joint safety building and offered to donate city land in a central location but several blocks removed from downtown and where parking was available. But the county board turned any joint idea down and went ahead with the building on its

Socialism in Ceylon

Strangely enough there has been little publicity about the restrictions against religious minorities in Ceylon despite all the excitement when Buddhists protested their troubles in Viet Nam. But the government of Ceylon is in such serious financial and emotional woes that it may collapse anyway.

The prime minister, defense minister, foreign affairs minister and information minister are all Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike who is demonstrating that running a country into ruin is not exclusively a male prerogative. Mrs. Bandaranaike is a dedicated socialist and vehement foe of the West, especially the British who used to run her country. Ever since she succeeded her late husband, she has instituted "reforms" that make Ceylon as poor and desperate as any communist country.

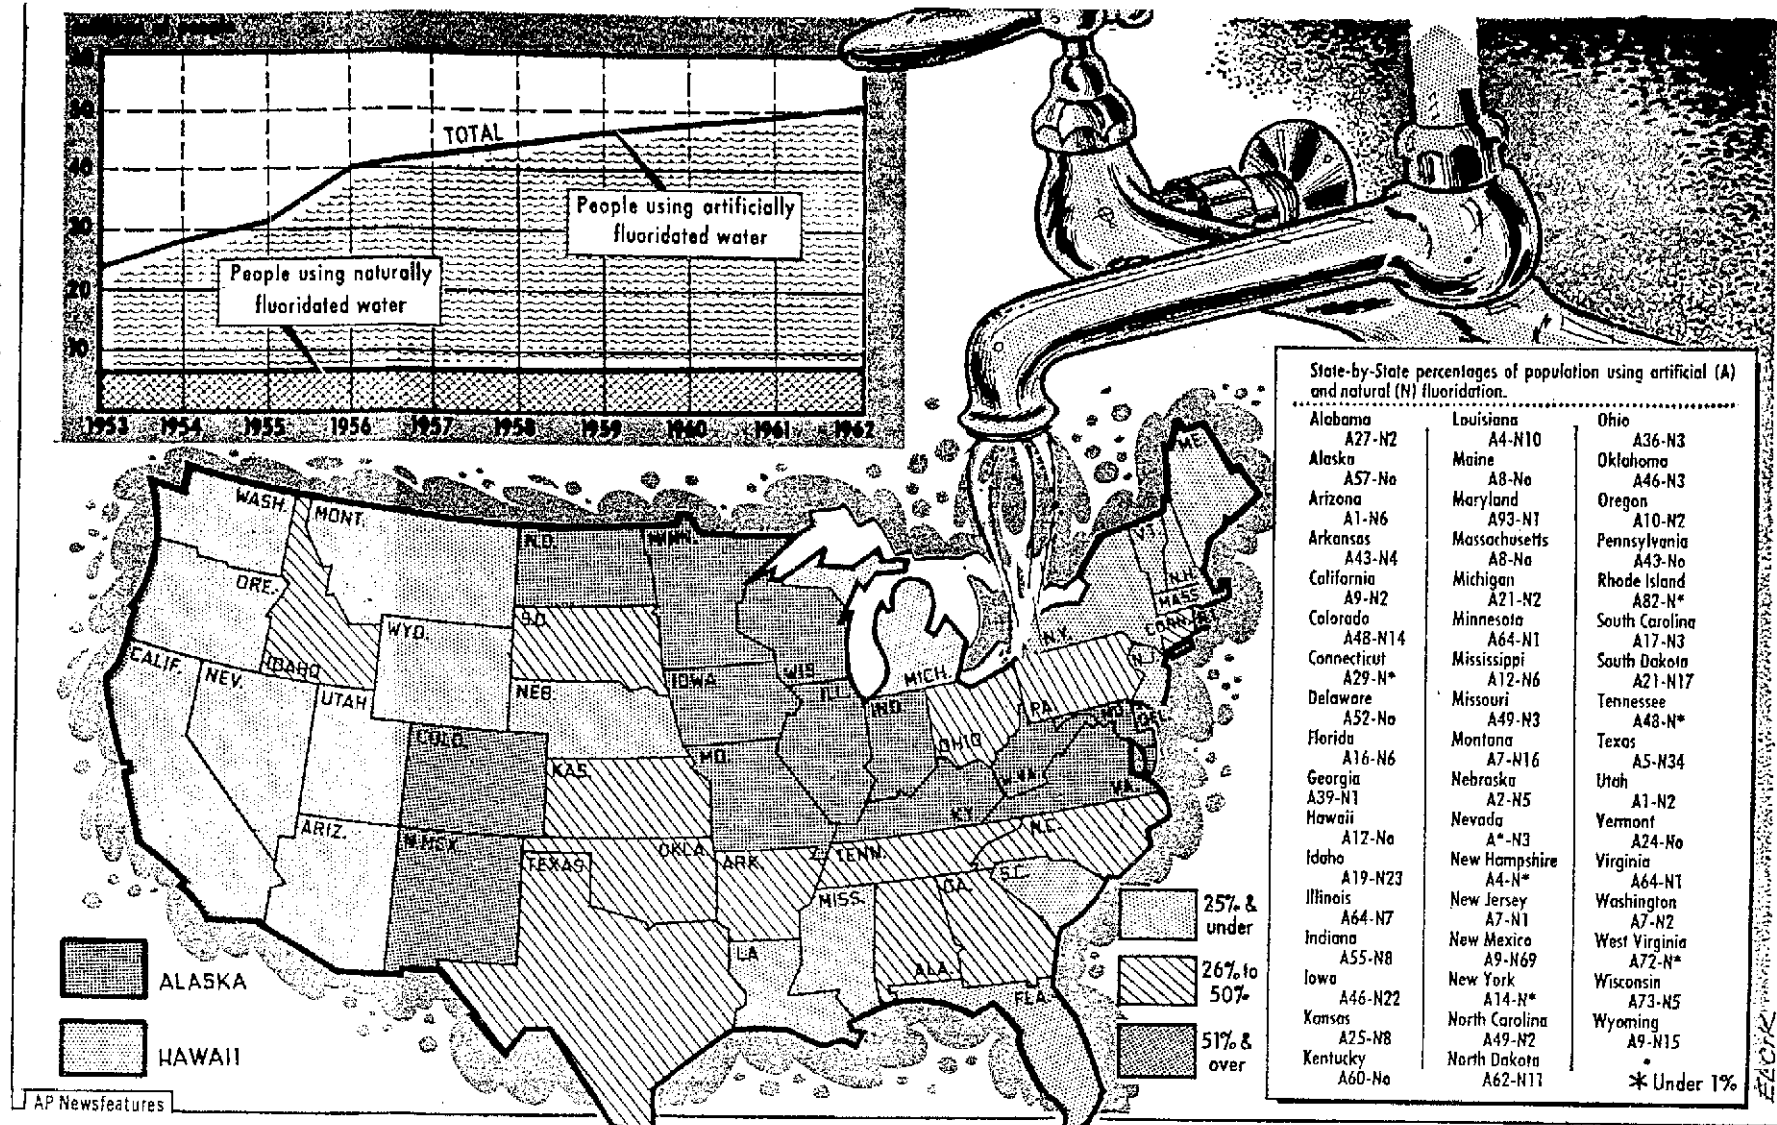

Mrs. Bandaranaike's government nationalized 700 Roman Catholic schools and has been encouraging discrimination against the Hindus who make up about a quarter of the nation's population. But her regulations have made things tough for everyone, including the majority Buddhists.

Some restrictions are merely unpleasant.

ant. The announcement that Sinhala would be the official language has slowed down all official actions since most of the bureaucrats write only in English. But there are more serious ones as well.

Mrs. Bandaranaike has ruled that most trade must be with Communist bloc nations and she nationalized United States and British oil companies without paying a thing. This has cut off the $7½ million per year from the United States foreign aid program. And Red imports are few and poorly made. There is a shortage of Soviet oil and cloth for Ceylon's textile plants. Prices of potatoes, peas and cabbage have jumped 50 to 100 per cent. Rubber and tea spill out of warehouses as 13,000 workers and white collar employees are out on strike. And Mrs. Bandaranaike's party is down to only 77 seats in the 157 member Parliament after a by-election. Moreover, the members of the party are widely split, although they hesitate to offer any criticism of the lady.

Mrs. Bandaranaike came to power through an emotional reaction to her husband's death. She seems bent upon losing influence through her stubborn refusal to face facts and her reliance upon the dreary lures of socialism.

New York City Fluoridates Its Water

BY FRANCIS STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

New York City shortly will begin fluoridating its water supply in an effort to reduce tooth decay, and the action may induce many other cities around the nation and world to follow suit.

New York's move came after 10 years of long and bitter arguments between foes and supporters of fluoridation. The arguments they advanced were approximately the same as in other localities where such a program is being considered.

Foes generally contended that the process hasn't been tested thoroughly enough to make certain there will be no long range ill effects.

On the other hand, however, government medical authorities as well as medical societies and dental associations say there is no possibility of harm.

Strong support for fluoridation has come from the World Health Organization, the U. S. Public Health Service, the American Medical Association and the American Dental Association.

Fluoridation proponents say that dental cavities of children can be reduced as much as 60 per cent.

New York was by no means the first major U. S. city to adopt fluoridation. Washington, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, St. Louis and Denver already are treating their water.

The process involves adding fluoride to water at a ratio of one part in a million.

According to the U. S. Public Health Service, 1,934 of the 16,885 water systems in the U. S. have natural fluoride content deemed sufficient for healthy teeth. Some 7,261,000 persons are served by these systems.

Another 3,284 systems, serving 51,306,700 people, add fluorides to augment natural fluoridation.

Artificial fluoridation is employed by 1,350 systems serving 44,045,400 people.

Thus a little more than half the nation's population is getting fluoridated water.

Around the world, communities in more than 30 nations have fluoridated water. However, there is little or none in France, Italy or West Germany.

Local health authorities in Britain are divided, with 62 councils having voted for the process and 23 against it.

In Ireland a long court battle has been under way in an effort to halt a bill making fluoridation mandatory.

Some Russian communities in the Ukraine and far north are understood to employ it but Moscow does not.

Wisconsin Report

Real Authority in Government Today Lies With Bureaucrats

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — To a regular bystander on the scene of governmental operations there is always an element of surprise in the reaction of the occasional academician who turns up on the beat, notebook in hand, to observe the grinding of the mills.

Wyngaard

Thus the other day a University of Wisconsin political scientist published his conclusion that the bureaucrats run the state. The effectiveness of the legislators, on the one hand, and the executive department, on the other, is negligible and sometimes not even visible, as he found it.

What is more interesting, perhaps, than this professor's conclusion is the fact that he found it worth reporting. For nobody who is regularly assigned to report the operations of the government at Madison has had any doubt on this score whatever.

HOW IT GOES

In part the power of the bureaucracy is the result of the growth in the physical size of the governmental establishment, which for at least half a century has been beyond the capacity of elected officials to supervise directly and in person.

To that extent, the phenomenon — if that is what it is — is found in all of the other state capitals of the country, in the city halls of the principal cities, and surely in the vast national government.

In Wisconsin, moreover, the power of the anonymous and non-elective office-holder is also deliberate in significant part. The legislature early in this century started delegating many of its most important powers to non-elective administrative agencies — until today it has virtually abdicated its constitutional rights and privileges in whole fields of human endeavor. At the same time the state has had what is known in professional political science circles as a weak executive system. The state has sharply limited the powers of its governor, as the principal elected official, because it feared the consequences of greater power there more than in the diversified and numerous bureaucracy.

Some years ago during a period of public concern about mine safety in the principal mining zones of the country, Oscar Rennebohm, then governor, called in the chief Wisconsin mine inspector to ask him for a report on his work. The man was a veteran civil servant. But he had never before talked to his superior officer and employer — the governor.

There are hundreds of important officials in the state service today who have never met Gov. Reynolds, have never talked with him about their work, and don't intend to do so. They run their departmental shows on their own authority, without much concern about who happens to be governor at the moment. Governors come and go. The administrators intend to stay.

THE LEGISLATURE

The professor-reporter who studied the operations of the government and found some things that evidently surprised him also observed that the legislature's fundamental policy initiative, by way of budget-making, is also more nominal than real. For the most part budgets are prepared by the office-holders. The legislature can modify the proposals, but it rarely does so with program objectives in mind.

Looking Backward

'Bountiful' Headache for Aldermen

160 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 16, 1864.

There has been considerable excitement in town the past couple of weeks over the subject that threatened destruction of our great city government.

A proposition to hold a meeting at Mr. Richmond's house was preemptorily vetoed by his physician. With despair stamped on the visages of the immortal four, flanked by our worthy mayor and city clerk, they wended their way in solemn procession to the city attorney's office to make their last will and testament.

Here their responsibilities were relieved by information that the state law, in his opinion, did not authorize us to offer such a bounty, and one must surely breed trouble with any discontented taxpayer who might wish to set aside his taxes.

Thereupon the prementioned four, a remnant of a once prosperous and flourishing board, betook themselves to their several abodes to ruminate upon the mutability of all things and resignedly prepare for a draft.

All that remains now to avoid such a draft is for those who are liable to such a call to submit an equal assessment, which, if carried out fully, will amount to a comparatively small sum to each.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Republicans are on the spot, LBJ's legislative proposals left them with nothing to do but declare war — and now Panama has even stolen that gambit from them.

Britain sending buses to Cuba isn't too bad. Let's just not send along any of those missiles that Barry Goldwater says are no good.

Tax agents make raids on big-time gamblers, including 14 Democratic candidates for vice-president — and a guy who still smokes cigarettes.

LBJ is so serious about his economy drive, he's thinking of wearing a 9.7 gallon hat.

With Gov. Rockefeller's new baby due just a month before the Republican nomination convention, Rocky obviously is a cinch to win the award-of-the-year from the Planned Parenthood people.

Clever people these Panama folks. You'll note they do their Yankee-hating when it's too cold up here to sell straw hats.

'Bountiful' Headache for Aldermen

N. Richmond being sick and (two other vacancies), it was of course impossible to hold a meeting, although the four assembled (forlorn hope!) again and again to counsel over the subject that threatened destruction of our great city government.

A proposition to hold a meeting at Mr. Richmond's house was preemptorily vetoed by his physician. With despair stamped on the visages of the immortal four, flanked by our worthy mayor and city clerk, they wended their way in solemn procession to the city attorney's office to make their last will and testament.

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE

New London Edged by Shawano '5', 48-47

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW LONDON — New London made a valiant bid for its first conference win of the season, Friday night, but time ran out as the Bulldogs drew within one point of the Shawano Indians. Playing a stalling fourth quarter, Shawano pulled out a 48-47 victory for its fourth Mid-East Conference win.

Seven of Shawano's 11 points in the fourth quarter were made from the free throw line. The Indians played a ball-control game throughout the final stanza and collected their points from the line when New London fouled attempting to get the ball.

With 1:32 remaining in the game, Shawano was holding a seven-point lead, when Gary Glock dropped in his third field goal of the game.

Joe Mullarkey was fouled twice within a few seconds in the Bulldogs' tight press and scored three points from the line. Continuing the press on a toss-in, the Bulldogs again stole the ball and Len Lathrop picked up two quick points on a basket.

last nine points to knot it at the intermission.

Tied at 5:05

Bob Hendricks scored the first basket for the Bucs in the opening seconds of the final half and Beloit led until Steinmetz's hook shot tied it at 69 with 5:05 to play. Prior to that it was the corner shooting of senior Tom Moran that kept the visitors on top. Moran fouled out with six and one-half minutes to play and the game gradually turned towards the Vikings.

Dave Hendricks, No. 3 scorer in the conference last year, hit a long shot from the side to give Beloit a 71-69 lead. Nault's short jump tied it again. Rudolph made a free throw. Nault gave the Vikings a 73-72 lead with a left handed layup. Bill Offill came right back with a jump that put Beloit ahead. Steinmetz and Offill exchanged two point plays before Hoover put Lawrence ahead to stay with 58 seconds remaining.

The game was, as expected, a battle of high geared offenses. But the two individual scoring threats were in the role of passers and team leaders. Hendricks scored 13 points in the first half, but only four over the Lawrence second half zone and press.

Joel Ungrodt, the second high scorer in the conference last year, moved into the position of team passer and leader. He counted only three points, nothing after the first seven minutes. But he was instrumental in helping a quartet of poised teammates reach their peaks.

Scrapplay
In the scoring column that quartet was led by the rebounding and scoring of Hoover and Steinmetz, the nine critical baskets of Nault and the scrappy play of Bond. Hoover had 23, Steinmetz 22, Nault 18 and Bond 10.

Rudolph, the sophomore, led the Bucs with 21. Hendricks ended with 17. Moran had 14 and Bob DeBoer and Offill 11 each. Bucky McMorris, the second high Beloit scorer, had only four points.

At the free throw line Lawrence made 17 of 24 and Beloit had 16 of 22.

Beloit ousted the Vikings by making 31 of 70 shots for 44 percent compared to the hosts 31 baskets in 77 shots for 40 percent.

LAWRENCE 79 — Hoover 5-5, Steinmetz 7-8, Bond 3-3, Grosser 0-0, Ungrodt 1-2, Kross 2-0, Nault 0-0, 31-74, 42-37-77.

BELOIT 78 — Rudolph 9-3, DeBoer 4-4, Jackson 0-2, Moran 7-5, Hendricks 4-5, Offill 4-3, McMorris 1-2, 31-76, 42-36-78.

Oshkosh Tops Fond du Lac By 66-62 Count

Mike Malone's Four Free Throws Provides Clincher for Indians

OSHKOSH — Four free throws in the last 45 seconds of play by junior guard Mike Malone preserved a 66-62 win for Oshkosh High School over Fond du Lac Friday night in a sluggish contest which saw the Indians dissipate leads of up to 14 points in the second half.

The Indians led by seven at the half, saw Fond du Lac close to within one point, built up a 14-point edge, lost that, and then hung on by virtue of eight free throws in the last two minutes of the game.

Oshkosh played in spurts, and appeared to have the game well in hand until the Cardinals rallied on several occasions.

Gary Bergstrom led the Fond du Lac comeback in the second half, scoring all 17 of his points in the final two quarters, with 12 points in the fourth period. Teammate Dick Pitzner led all scorers with 23 markers.

Five Points

Oshkosh scored five points in the final 30 seconds of the first quarter to take a 17-10 period ending lead. They upped the margin to 11 points before the Cardinals came back at the end of the half.

Fond du Lac scored six straight points to open the third quarter and trailed only by one, 33-32, before Bob Wegener, Mike Zuehlke, Malone and Greg Wood scored to give the Indians an 11-point margin again.

The Cardinals started their fourth quarter rally with 3 minutes left, but sharp free throw shooting by Bruce Erickson, Wegener and Malone kept the Red Birds at bay.

Wood and Wegener led the balanced Oshkosh attack with 16 and 12 points, respectively. Malone added 10. Neither team was too sharp from the floor. Fond du Lac hitting 21 of 62 for 34 per cent, and Oshkosh connecting on 24 of 74 for 32 per cent.

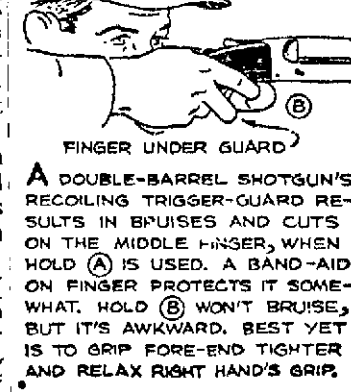

Fond du Lac took a 56-47 decision in the JV contest.

OSHKOSH (17-19-14) — Wood 6-12, Malone 3-4, Zuehlke 4-13, Erickson 1-2, Vardner 3-4, Wegener 3-5, Stras 2-3, Weber 0-0, Totals 24-61-79.

er tipped in a rebound, and AHS was out of reach, at 67-53.

Bob Sullivan, whose sharp-shooting had been blunted most of the night by AHS' dynamic defense, finally broke the spell with a 2-pointer from underneath.

Terror heroics weren't exhausted yet, as they reeled off six more points without retaliation—on a Miller hook shot, a Bock lay-up after a steal and two Gary Hietpas free throws.

This opened up AHS' biggest lead, 73-55, with 1:38 left. The Lee Rasmussen enabled Den-Ships added respectability to the score in the closing 90 seconds.

Bock, rifling through 10 of 22 floor shots, finished with 21 points.

Miller, who appears to be the answer to the search for a front-line regular since the loss of Tom Callaway, entered the game about midway in the first quarter and stayed the rest of the way in an amazing performance. He sank nine of 17 floor shots and finished with 19 points—which came within one of equalling his entire production for the first nine games of the season.

McKee also reached the double-figure level, with 14 points. He played the entire ball game, as did Bock and Weber, the team's rebounding ace.

Hietpas and Paul Schumaker divided the duties at one of the guard slots. Hietpas, who was charged with three fouls in the first quarter, sat out slightly more than half the game. Schumaker minimized the loss of the team's season-long floor leader with a smooth offensive and alert defensive performance.

The Terrors' tight 2-3 zone played havoc with Ship marksmen, especially Sullivan, who went into the game with the conference's top average—about 26 points a game. AHS sliced his average in two has he coined only 13 points and sank only four of 15 floor shots—and two of the baskets came in the final two minutes when the outcome was no longer in doubt.

Leads Ships

Bill Schwartz, until recently a reserve, and Jansson led the half, saw Fond du Lac close to within one point, built up a 14-point edge, lost that, and then hung on by virtue of eight free throws in the last two minutes of the game.

Oshkosh played in spurts, and appeared to have the game well in hand until the Cardinals rallied on several occasions.

Gary Bergstrom led the Fond du Lac comeback in the second half, scoring all 17 of his points in the final two quarters, with 12 points in the fourth period. Teammate Dick Pitzner led all scorers with 23 markers.

In a team teaching situation 190 boys and girls from the classes of Miss Katharine Kaf- er, Miss Eugenia Kiryakakis and Arlin Spiegelberg have tak- en a thorough, intelligent look at the news.

Cited as one of the four prin- cipal rights in the B.I. of Rights, freedom of religion, speech, press and assembly, know now the many ways in which a newspaper serves the individual, the family, the com- munity. The study tied in with Inter- national Printing Week, observ- ed since Jan. 12, which this year stressed the value of the printed word.

Informed Public Introducing the series, Arlin Spiegelberg, 1963 Free dom Foundation Award winner, pointed out that "free govern- ment could not survive if men could not speak and publish their opinions. To have an in- formed public, all of the facts must be known — newspapers print the facts, he said.

"There are 11,000 newspapers in the United States today and they publish 55 million papers daily — the New York Daily News, has the largest edition, 2.4 million copies per day."

Spiegelberg directed the three- section study by reviewing the importance and influence of the newspaper throughout history; the publication and printing of newspapers, their service to any local area and the nation and their basic differences. Stress- ing the importance of preserv- ing this freedom, he emphasized the vital necessity of individual evaluation of the printed word.

Front Page Discussion Miss Eugenia Kiryakakis led the discussion on the front page section of the newspaper. She centered the students' atten- tion on the content of page one and how to read it effectively. They considered the makeup, head- lines, major story, importance of pictures and the variety of news, local, state and national as well as international.

An evaluation of editorial pages was led by Miss Kath- arene Kafer. With newspapers in hand, the students looked at the types of materials to be found on an editorial page and

Man Pleads Innocent Of Drunken Driving

ONHOSH—Roy S. Mathison, 54, 304 Fifth Ave., Menominee, Mich., Friday afternoon pleaded innocent of drunken driving and further proceedings were set for Monday morning.

He was arrested at 1:30 a.m. when he started to drive away Friday by Omro and Winnebago County police who were called after handing his driver's li- cense to Omro Police Chief James Van Alstine.

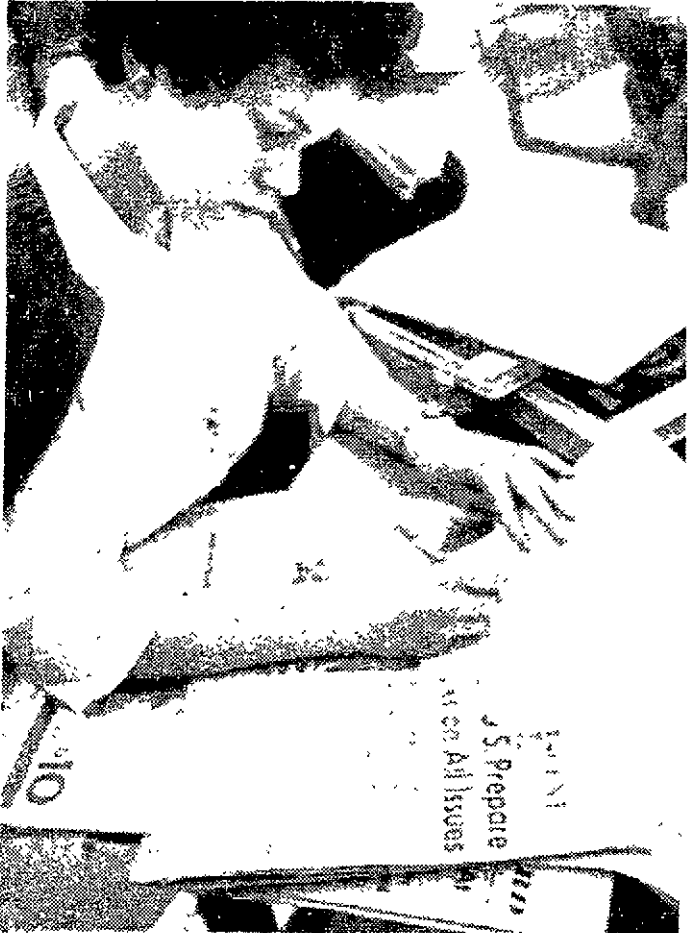

When arraigned Friday morn- ing and asked if his name was Roy Mathison, he replied "this is criminal entrapment, and the proceedings should go no further until he had his constitutional rights and his human right to see a doctor."

When given a chance to con- tact an attorney, Mathison de- clined. He also declined medical attention. County Judge James Sitter then set the case over until Friday afternoon, when Mathison pleaded innocent.

World's Best Brains

Quadri-Science, Inc. Is a Think Machine

BY PHIL KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Quadri- Science Inc. is a company with- out a plant, machines or sales- men. It makes nothing. Few people know it exists.

The com- pany's assets consist mainly of some of the best brains in the world.

What does it do? "It thinks," says Dr. Polykarp Kusch, a Nobel Prize-winner in physics, Columbia University professor and Quadri-Science president.

In return for its thoughts, Quadri-Science becomes a part owner of its clients. Thinking along with Kusch are Dr. Harold C. Urey (Nobel Prize in chemistry), Dr. Joshua Led- erberg (Nobel Prize in medi- cine), Dr. James A. Van Allen (discoverer of the radiation belts that surround the earth), Dr. Samuel K. Allison, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, Dr. Huntington Harris and Charles Tyroier II, its ex- ecutive vice president.

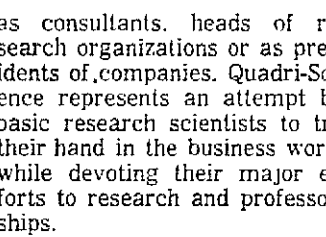

So far three companies, all small and in the scientific field, have a connection with Quadri- Science. In return for stock in the companies, Quadri-Science makes available the talents and prestige of its scientists.

The arrangement is new even for an age when many scientists are capitalizing on their brains as consultants, heads of re- search organizations or as pres- idents of companies. Quadri-Sci- ence represents an attempt by basic research scientists to try their hand in the business world while devoting their major ef- forts to research and professor- ships.

Formed in 1961 Quadri-Science believes its scientists can spot the directions in which science and technology are heading. Then they can guide a company on possible new products.

Quadri-Science was formed by its members in 1961. It occupies two floors of an office building in Washington, where its regu- lar meetings are held. Urey, chairman of the board, is at the Stanford University medical school. Van Allen is a professor at the University of Iowa. Allison is at the University of Chicago. Lapp and Harris, a member of a Chicago banking family, are in Washington. So is Tyroier, who in 1956 ran the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's vice presidential campaign.

Big Sphere Feature of New Museum

BY JOHN A. BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Geographic Society — after 75 years of digging into the world's past and present secrets—has some new, proud diggings of its own.

The society—with help from President Johnson — dedicates its new headquarters building Saturday, and with it a new museum of science and discovery called Explorers Hall.

For a frontispiece, the society has reduced the world to an 11-foot, 1,000-pound sphere—unlike the real thing, completely un- der control. A console provides this huge globe with special ef- fects.

Can Show Satellite The globe dominates Explor- ers Hall—and is set in a black granite reflecting pool, where it rotates on its axis. Among the special effects possible through the console's operation: a satel- lite spinning about the earth.

The operator of the control console can also project images on the globe's surface—for in- stance an outline map of Texas on the globe's Alaska can show that Alaska is the biggest state. The Mississippi can likewise be compared directly with the Am- azon River.

Besides the globe, the muse- um sports life-size displays—an underground ceremonial cham- ber of the Pueblo Indians, a plastic face overlaying the skull of Zinjanthropus suggests the appearance of a matype who lived 1.75 million years ago. All of these and others are the discoveries of famous explorers and scientists who have car-

Spring St., home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ulman, where a child spilled water and a floor socket was shorted. Firemen discon- nected the wires.

Appleton Firm Employee, Son Devise New Cutting Machine

Lowell Ferris Granted Patent On Pilot Model of Du-Cut Unit

An employee of an Appleton machinery firm and his son have devised a machine to speed up and improve the multiple automatic cutting operations of band knives and saws.

It utilizes the return as well as the forward run of the endless belt.

The son, Lowell D. Ferris, has been granted Patent No. 3,118,337 on the machine. His father, James A. Ferris Sr., De Pere, a machine designer for 40 years, and an employee of Valley Iron Works, Inc., collaborated with him in designing and producing the pilot model.

Although their initial contacts have been primarily with the paper industry, the inventors anticipate the machine will see numerous other applications in and density of work, are convenient for the operator and may be manipulated while the machine is operating at top speed, according to Ferris.

Lowell Ferris, according to his father, visualized the double-action cutting operation which had eluded or been ignored by machine designers up to then. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, having received his master's degree in physics in 1960. Now with the Army at Fort Ord, Calif., as a first lieutenant, he expects to return home in June after completion of his service.

Lowell has worked with his father for several years at the Ferris Engineering Co. in the design of printing, wrapping and special paper trade and other machinery. While earning his master's degree he helped design some of the equipment used in connection with the recently installed cyclotron at the University of Wisconsin.

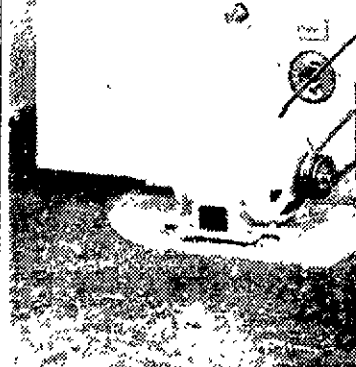

No definite plans have been made for commercial manufacture of the Du-Cut. "It is relatively simple to build in a machine shop, and we could grant rights to any manufacturer wishing to install one of the machines," James Ferris said. It is also possible, he said, that he and his son might go into actual manufacture themselves. They are now listed in various paper trade and other directories as the Du-Cut Manufacturing Co.

Adjustments to provide for every conceivable variable, such as wear of knife or diameter captured the eye, ear and funny bone during the evening, "Bye, Bye, Birdie" is a company effort and the knowledgeable direction of Birdie, the ingenious sets of Patt Maples, the production refinements of Norbert Ecker especially in the costuming, and the smooth technical work of Alan Wanek played as great a part in the success as anything.

If there was a weakness, it is the one that perennially crops up in non-professional musical productions — the choreography. Linda Hazen asked nothing more than her players could perform; but the show case dance numbers indicated that she should have been much more demanding.

Small ensembles also shone in the big cast. Jeanne Carr, Vicki Kohlman and Denise McMahon were business-like teen singers; Janice Pietrowski and Sherry DeJardin along with Diane Wagner, the competent teen star of the show, made their "One Boy" trio a highlight as did Ron Hounsell, Earl Jorgensen, Steve Rhode and Pat Mulroy in their backing-up principals in "Baby, Talk to Me."

Lucky ticket-holders have a real treat waiting them at De Pere. The next Birdie production will have to have a longer run.

This Is a Pilot Model of the Du-Cut, on which a patent has been granted to Lowell Ferris, De Pere. Designed to speed up and improve multiple cutting operations with band saws and knives, it is expected

AHS Ranks High In Survey of Degrees Given

15 Local Graduates Have Receive Ph.D's From 1957 to 1962

Appleton Senior High School has been notified that it ranks fourteenth in the state and 597th in the nation for its number of graduates receiving Ph.D. degrees from 1957 through 1962. This rating, released by the National Research Council of the National Academy of Science, is a result of a study into the background of doctorates granted during this period. Within this time, fifteen AHS graduates received their Ph.D. degree.

There are approximately 530 high schools in Wisconsin and more than 25,000 in the United States.

Earlier Survey Six of the fifteen were granted their degree before 1959 and were connected with an earlier survey. The nine 1959 to 1962 doctorates include: Judith Marston, daughter of Mrs. C. L. Marston, who received her degree in biology from Baylor University in 1959; Julius Kopplin, son of Mrs. J. O. Kopplin, who received his degree in engineering from Purdue University in 1959.

Lloyd Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Schmidt, took his degree in music from Northwestern University in 1959; Earl Zwicker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Zwicker, who received his degree in physics from the Illinois Institute of Technology in 1959; and James Campbell, son of Mrs. James M. Campbell, whose degree in psychology was earned at University of Washington in 1960.

The others are: Stephen Busch, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. R. Busch, whose degree in education was taken at the University of Michigan in 1961; James Boen, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Robert Boen, who received a degree in mathematics from the University of Illinois in 1959; Stephen Darling, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Darling, who received his degree in chemistry from Columbia University in 1959; and Robert Sonkowsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sonkowsky, whose degree in classics was received at the University of North Carolina in 1959.

The survey into the high school backgrounds of the doctorates is an attempt to determine what influences are important in guiding decisions of high school students, particularly those who will go on to college and perhaps on to graduate school.

The administration and guidance department at AHS cooperated with the National Academy of Sciences in supplying the needed information on both the students and the nature of the high school during the time they were in attendance.

There were 132 accidents with less than $100 damage and 124 with more than $100 damage during 1963.

A total of 252 arrests were made including 113 for speeding. Other arrests included 49 for disorderly conduct, 21 for alcohol violations, nine for reckless driving and failing to yield right of way, eight for driving on left side of road and seven in other categories.

Five arrests each were for inattentive driving and imprudent driving, four for unauthorized driving, faulty muffler and littering roadway, three for unnecessary noise with vehicle, hit and run driving and drunk driving, two for beer in car with minors present and possession of fireworks and one for allowing a minor to drive.

Fremont's Wolf River Drive Stopped From C of C Signs

FREMONT — A pair of Fremont Chamber of Commerce display signs showing a fisherman in a picturesque setting gave rise to Fremont's new street name, Wolf River Drive. At its last meeting the village as they face the challenge of building a new family-type facility.

Two Main Questions Two main questions faced the men when they began their work last May. Angermeyer pointed out: Is such a facility needed in Neenah-Menasha, and, if so, can and will the two communities support it?

These questions guided the subcommittees as they studied population growth statistics, school population surveys, data on the Boys' Brigade building, and building and operating costs from other YWCA and YMCA organizations, and visited other similar facilities, he said.

The speaker said two subcommittees arrived at the same conclusion — that the proposed venture was possible and necessary in this community. In December the committee recommended to the YWCA directors that the venture be undertaken.

Chairmen Named Angermeyer announced S. F. Shattuck as honorary chairman of the capital fund drive and John R. Kimberly Jr., a member of the men's steering committee, as general campaign chairman. He advised the women to appoint a building committee, to plan carefully, to use its recently appointed advisory board, and to take the advice of its architects.

In the meantime, he said, "do a better job of what you have been doing all along and let the citizens of Neenah and Menasha know about it."

Pointing out the need for selling family memberships, the speaker discussed projected operating costs and income and said a few additional memberships in each category as presented in budget considerations prepared by the steering committee would allow for a balanced budget in a new building with the Community Chest contributions remaining the same.

Hard Work Needed With a new building, members, a dedicated program and staff, "what is needed in addition?" the speaker asked. "A dedicated hard-working group of women striving to impregnate more deeply the ideals of the Young Women's Christian Association in the families of our two communities."

Mrs. Win Pervier, executive director of the YWCA said one year ago, "I hope next year we will have something important about a new building to announce. "Today we do have very good news, and next year should be our last annual meeting in the present building," she said.

DEPERE — A packed and rockin' house in Abbott Pennington Fine Arts Hall at St. Norbert College Friday night thoroughly enjoyed the opening night of what could be an indefinite run of the Dudley Birdie directed "Bye, Bye, Birdie" production.

If this kind of fun was being offered on the professional stage, the end would not be in sight. However, as things stand, the final curtain will fall on "Bye, Bye, Birdie" Monday night and no one who isn't clutching tickets at this very minute will enjoy this fine evening.

Dom Forgianni and Meg Perkins, a pair of very personable youngsters, did workmanlike jobs in carrying off the sustaining roles of this superbly funny polemic against (1) Mom — the Philip Wylie type —, (2) rock 'n' roll idols, (3) the downgrading of fathers, and (4) sundry other peccadillos of our society that passed through the minds of Michael Stewart and Lee Adams, but LaMal carried off his burlesque (or could it be a burlesque?) with great restraint and control. However, the character actors stole Forgianni and the pleasing Miss Perkins blind.

Rosemary Corrigan cracked out lines with the sting and snap of a pro as she stripped each drop of venom out of her Momster role.

Making every point out of his round figure, Dave Zoch parlayed his physique with magnificent timing to give his father-in-rebellion role complete dominance of the stage whenever he wished.

Company Effort

Andre LaMal as Conrad Birdie — the "Healthy, Normal, American Boy" — how can you describe him? How can you describe any of the teen-age idols? How could you possibly describe all of them put together? If you could, then you could come close to describing LaMal. In leather jacket and tight jeans, in resplendent, tight, silver costume or in an out-of-this-world, sequin-trimmed uniform, LaMal was hard to believe, but a joy to behold and listen to. It may sound like a paradox, but LaMal carried off his burlesque (or could it be a burlesque?) with great restraint and control. Although these five actors captured the eye, ear and funny bone during the evening, "Bye, Bye, Birdie" is a company effort and the knowledgeable direction of Birdie, the ingenious sets of Patt Maples, the production refinements of Norbert Ecker especially in the costuming, and the smooth technical work of Alan Wanek played as great a part in the success as anything.

If there was a weakness, it is the one that perennially crops up in non-professional musical productions — the choreography. Linda Hazen asked nothing more than her players could perform; but the show case dance numbers indicated that she should have been much more demanding.

Small ensembles also shone in the big cast. Jeanne Carr, Vicki Kohlman and Denise McMahon were business-like teen singers; Janice Pietrowski and Sherry DeJardin along with Diane Wagner, the competent teen star of the show, made their "One Boy" trio a highlight as did Ron Hounsell, Earl Jorgensen, Steve Rhode and Pat Mulroy in their backing-up principals in "Baby, Talk to Me."

Lucky ticket-holders have a real treat waiting them at De Pere. The next Birdie production will have to have a longer run.

Convenient Adjustments

Adjustments to provide for every conceivable variable, such as wear of knife or diameter of the finished product, instead of one length. The material is sliced or sawed by the downward thrust of the blade, and the conveyor then moves ahead another two lengths.

"For the processing of toilet tissue," James Ferris said, "the pilot Du-Cut machine has been engineered and built to achieve a production rate of 180 cases per hour. This equals or better the speed of any presently available tissue winder."
